Co-ordinating the Nations. Those of us who are bewailing the passing of the choral society and choral singing in general may be heartened by remembering that music is preeminently a social art; there is nothing that so ministers to the sense of solidarity, of brotherhood, as singing in a chorus under a good leader, who accomplishes things, or playing in an orchestra with a director able to bring about a fine ensemble.

Billie and Jimmie Will Take Military Training.

"I am mighty sorry, Uncle Dan, that this is your last night with us. Can't you stay longer? We boys are having peach of a time," said Billie. "Well, if you get more out of it in the way of pleasure than I," said Uncle Dan, "you are going some." "Billie, I have been talking seriously with your father and mother about sending you to a military academy and they asked me to talk with you about

"Whoopee!" Billie screamed, like a wild Indian. "Now, hold your horses," said Uncle Dan, "and listen to me. You know I sent my boy, Howard, to one of these schools for a year when he was about your age. He was narrow chested, stoop shouldered, rather loose jointed; he had the big head and needed discipline and physical development. He was growing fast and I wanted him to be strong physically."

"Say, Uncle Dan," said Billie, "I believe your description of Howard fits me pretty well, eh?"

"Well," said Uncle Dan, "to be frank I think it does; you need the same thing. Howard did not like it at first. I am told for a few weeks he had 'rough sledding,' but after he found that the only way was to obey orders, he caught the spirit of the institution and liked it. We did not see him for about six months, then he came home for a few days. We were astonished at his appearance. He had gained about 20 pounds in weight, his muscles were as hard as nails, he stood as straight as an arrow, he was courteous, considerate and manly. His awkwardness had disappeared. The change was wonderful and it was all to the good. Here is a photograph showing before and after taking,' and I am sure no patent medicine advertisement could beat it.

"Well, mother and I were delighted. That was ten years ago, and Howard says the year he spent at the military academy was the best year of his life.

"Now," said Uncle Dan, with great earnestness, "when such training does so much good, makes better citizens and at the same time fits a man to defend his country, why should not Uncle Sam furnish this training at the government's expense? The government has the right to call anyone to serve in case of war, and without training, a man is worth nothing as a soldier. Uncle Sam has splendid new training camps that will soon be available for the purpose, therefore, here is double reason why the Chamberlain bill for compulsory military training should be passed at once, so that every boy physically fit may have this training and not leave it for his parents to pay for. On account of the expense, not one boy in 50 can take the training now. I am glad that you can do so. These big crops and big prices, I find, make the farmers rather 'cocky,' and that the best is demanded by them.' Billie was up with the lark the next morning, more excited and enthusiastic than ever. He had a plan. He knew Jimmie owned a colt worth $100; that he would make almost another $100 on his potatoes if they turned out well, and that he had from his previous savings, bought a $100 Liberty bond. Billie's plan was to have Jimmie cash in and go with him. He was disappointed to find that Jimmle would still lack about $300 of having enough to see him through. His lip quivering, he said: "I'm mighty sorry to leave Jimmie." Uncle Dan was silent a moment or two, then he asked Billie to go down to the orchard and get him some apples to eat on the train. While he was gone, it was arranged that Uncle Dan and Mr. and Mrs. Graham would advance the money necessary so that Jimmie could go. When Billie returned he was told about it. He ran to the phone and called Jimmie, saying: "Come on over, run just as fast as you can, I've got the greatest news you ever heard of."

Jimmle and a German Boy Clash-Must Do Three Things to Save Country.

It was a warm evening, so Uncle Dan went out to a lawn seat under the spreading branches of the great tree that suggested the farm's name of Oak Hill. Billie and Jimmie had been laying for him, so Uncle Dan was captured by the boys on short order.

"Say, Uncle Dan," Billie began, "We had a red-hot argument at school yesterday with Carl Newman. Carl said that German schools were miles ahead of our schools and that no one could come up to the educated German. Well, Jimmle got hot under the collar and handed it back to him good and plenty. Jimmle said if their education taught them to torpedo Lusitanias, sink hospital ships, murder hundreds of women and children, make slaves of the Belgians, polson wells, destroy fruit trees and commit all sorts of crimes. then we did not want that kind of education here. What do you think about it, Uncle, Dan? I told Jimmie you spent a lot of time in Europe and knew all about schools, so give us your

"Well," replied Uncle Dan, deliberately, "the German schools are very thorough; they furnish exceedingly valuable and practical instruction. The industrial training given there is probably the best to be found. The schools as a whole, however, in my opinion, appeal to the head only, and never to the heart. The aim and trend is to make the individual blindly submissive to the Prussian plan of world dominion; they teach that it is the destiny of Germany to rule the world, and that to the glory and advance of Germany, in this plan, all things must give way; that the kaiser as head of the state, can do no wrong if he carries forward the plan of world control. Some of the greatest teachers and preachers even defend and justify her heartless crushing of Belgians and the many other atrocious crimes she has committed in this war. Thank God, our American education reaches both cation with a soul, and we must maintain the high ideals we have fixed. In a word, in Germany, the people are taught that they exist for the government, while here the government exists to serve the people."

"Just wait a minute," interrupted Billie. Say that over again slowly, so I can write it down."

Uncle Dan, smilingly, complied. Rulle exclaimed: "Now, we will hand that nut out for Carl to crack. Carl, you know," continued Billie, "has a very smart father who keeps him posted on the German arguments, Carl said our government was only an experiment anyway; that it would not last twenty years, and that it might burst up any old time. Jimmie good, why they did not go back there to live." "Our government will go on forever, asked him if Germany was so mighty won't it, Uncle Dan?" "Now," said Uncle Dan, "you are raising a big question, and one that has troubled me for years. Our government is still in the experimental stage; in fact, it is the greatest experiment ever undertaken, and if popular government is to be successful, a few things must be done, otherwise, to paraphrase the great Lincoln, the government of the people, by the people and for the people, will perish. It is my firm conviction," said Uncle Dan, in a very impressive manner, "that if our country is to go on, as we hope and pray, we must very quickly do at least three things, and I will name them in the order of importance as it appears to me:

"First, adopt compulsory universal military training of all young men physically fit before they reach the age of twenty years. "Next, require that every foreigner who comes here to live must, within a reasonable time, say a year, declare his intention of becoming an American citizen and take the necessary steps to do so, thereby, from that moment, assuming all the obligations of citizenship of our country, and that means he must defend our flag upon equal terms with our native born, and if he is not willing to do this, he should be sent back from whence he came."

"That's the stuff," exclaimed Billie. "And, finally, enact such legislation as will make voting compulsory. Popular government is based upon the participation of all and the rule of the majority, and democracy cannot continue and be successful unless we live up to the spirit of the institu-

"The first step, however, is the passing of the Chamberlain bill for universal military training. If you will get the leading citizen, and especially the editor of your paper, to write personal letters to your congressman and both senators, urging their support, it will help enormously.

"I see by the morning papers," said Uncle Dan, "that the Rotary clubs of the entire country, the livest, most efficient organization to be found, have unanimously decided to get back of the Chamberlain bill and give it loyal and enthusiastic support. They will work with the Universal Military Training league to accomplish this important piece of legislation, which will do more than anything else to make us a real nation with a common viewpoint, bring us back to sane living, and each us the patriotism of service."

To Cut Hazards for Women Workers. Hazards faced by women workers in war industries will be investigated by a committee appointed on Monday by Miss Mary Van Kleeck, director of the women in industry division of the department of labor. Lieut. Col. Harry E. Mock of the surgeon general's office has been appointed chairman of the committee, which will visit various centers where women have been drawn into war industries. The chemical industries at Niagara Falls, N. Y., first will be investigated.

Stand With President Wilson. The congress of the French general confederation of labor, after a long and animated discussion, adopted by a vote of 908 to 233, a resolution approving the adoption by the leaders of the confederation of the peace principles enunciated by President Wilson.

Women's Stay in Industry.

In a report on industrial experiences of trade school girls in Massachusetts. issued by the federal bureau of labor statistics, it is stated that the history of the 744 Boston trade school girls. who graduated and then entered their trades, does not support the common theory that the working girls' stay in industry is limited to a few years. After seven years, 66.8 per cent of these girls were still wage earners. 19.4 per cent had married, 9.1 per cent were at home or in school, and 4.6 per cent had died or been test sight of.

American Fliers Killed.

With the American Army in France. -Alan Ashm, of Chicago, a member of the Lafayette Flying Squadron, has been killed in a combat with several German machine over Soissons. His machine when falling was seen to burst into flames. Warren T. Hobbs. of Worcester, Mass., another member of the Lafayette Flying Squadron, was killed June 26. Forced to fly low because of engine trouble, he was brought down by anti-aircraft guns.

Riots Arising From Food Shortage. Washington.-A dispatch received at the State Department from the American Legation at Teheran, Persia, says that on account of riots arising from the food shortage and other disturbances the city has been placed under martial law. Nothing has been heard there from the American Consul, who left Tabriz many weeks ago.

Indemnity For Greeks.

Washington.-Payment of $40,000 by the United States to Greece for infuries suffered by Greek citizens at Omaha, February 21, 1909, during raceriots, is authorized by a bill passed by the Senate and sent to the House.

Warns Against Strikes.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the English militant suffrage leader, has been made one of the speakers of the labor department, division of information, it has been announced at Washington. In a recent talk in Boston she warned employers and those they employ against strikes, declaring that discord of this kind will help Germany. "You cannot afford to have a single dispute or discussion," she said; "you cannot afford to weaken the home front by one man or woman."

Denies Lack of Patriotism. Denial that his organization was attempting to cause labor unrest in shipyards or to hamper government war work was made by J. E. McClory, president International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers. The denial followed a protest filed with the national war labor board, signed by Walter Drew for the National Erectors' association, declaring Mc-Clory's organization was attempting to organize ship workers into "closed shops,"

Smuggle Jewels of Romanoff Dynasty. New York.-An alleged plot to smuggle into America the crown jewels of the dethroned Romanoff dynasty stones valued at $2,000,000, is believed to have been discovered by United States customs officials, it was learned. Two United States Government officials are under suspicion, it was announced. Two passengers on the vessel Vladimar Jogelsen and Montefier G.
